Grogan holds ball — Bavaro holds Wight — Ryan jukes James

By ALISON ALOISIO
Preliminary numbers show a merger with SADs 43 and 21 would cost SAD44 towns more money for education.

The SAD44 School Board is expected to vote Monday on letters of intent to the state naming its potential partner(s) in the state's mandated school consolidation plan.

The district has been waiting for numbers from the state showing the financial impact of various merger scenarios involving up to five existing area school systems.

SAD44 finally received preliminary numbers Aug. 19 (they were initially promised in early July). With a deadline of Aug. 31 to submit a letter or letters of intent, that's not much time.

Board votes Monday on proposed partners.

"It's going to be a rush to the finish line," Supt. Dave Murphy told the SAD44 School Board Monday. "Whatever decision we make has major implications for a long, long time. We'll do the best we can in the short time we have."

That may mean submitting more than one letter (for different partners) in order to keep options open.

In addition to possible mergers with SADs 43 (Rumford)

Skiway lays out details on night skiing

By ALISON ALOISIO
Sunday River Ski Resort last week unveiled a proposal to offer night skiing at the resort.

The plan, presented to the Newry Planning Board last Wednesday, calls for lighting the Dreammaker and Escapade trails on North Peak and the Broadway trail near the South Ridge Lodge.

"It would be another activity for people to do at the skiway," said Sunday River engineer Joe Aloisio, who presented the plan.

He used as an example the scenario of guests arriving on Fridays for a weekend at the resort and going out to ski in the evening.

He said the resort "typically doesn't bring plans for mountain development to the board, but we thought this would have a bigger impact."

Letters to abutters were scheduled to go out last Thursday.

Sunday River wants to offer skiing until 10:30 p.m. on Fridays, Saturdays and during vacation weeks.

But Aloisio did not absolutely restrict the request to those days.

He said offering other nights "might be a benefit to the schools, such as for

Greenwood Appeals Board poised to scuttle permits for Round Pond Station

By MICHAEL DANIELS
It appears the next stop for Round Pond Station will be Oxford County Superior Court.

The Greenwood Appeals Board still has one meeting left on the lakeside rental property, but last Wednesday board members indicated they planned to side with an abutter who was contesting permits granted for the property by the town Planning Board.

The abutter, Bill Kaplan, had raised several concerns regarding the property, but it was a single issue that proved pivotal in the Appeal Board's decision to reverse the Planning Board.

The Appeals Board members concluded that Round Pond Station has evolved to the point that it is now a commercial enterprise operating in Limited Residential District, and under the terms of the town's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance that is not allowed.

The ordinance does make an exception that allows for a shoreland owner to rent a property to another family.

Apple crops are bouncing back

By ALISON ALOISIO
"I've never seen the trees like this before — I've been out knocking apples off," said Frank Gibson.

Gibson has been cultivating apples for 40 years in his Bethel orchard. This year's crop is bumper, he said.

"I can't believe the size and number of apples," he said.

Dick Littlefield of Littlefield's Orchard in Bethel agrees. "Half the apples on the trees would be plenty," he said.

The men said this season's plentiful rains, coupled with a good local supply of honey bees, are the factors responsible for the huge crop.

"There are people with beehives around," said Gibson.

The good season makes up for last year.

Littlefield, who has about 200 trees, usually gets about 10 bushels a tree. In 2006, he got only 45 bushels from the entire orchard.

Littlefield and Gibson said a significant thaw in the winter of 2006 caused many tree buds to partially open. When the temperatures dropped again, they froze.

Voters again reject funds for squad truck and parks

By MICHAEL DANIELS
More than 80 Greenwood voters turned out for a special Town Meeting Tuesday evening, and they were not there to spend money.

They began the evening by refusing to increase the town's property tax levy limit.

They then agreed to have the town take over (from the state) cleaning and maintenance responsibility for the Greenwood Shores Picnic Area on Route 26.

But on their next vote they refused to raise any money to follow through on that responsibility.

And they also refused to raise any money to maintain the town's two recreation areas, Dunham Park and the town beach on the Greenwood Road.

Funding for recreational-area maintenance had also been on the warrant for the town's annual Town Meeting in March, but the $7,900 proposed at that time was part of $464,000 cut by voters in an effort to hold down a looming 60 percent increase in town spending.

WE WILL KEEP LOOKING

To the Editor:

The severe, but highly localized, rainstorm of July 11 caused several million dollars in public and private property damage across portions of Gilead, Bethel and Newry. This storm compromised Bethel's public water source and recreation park, both located on Chapman Brook. Floodwater also damaged residential properties of five Bethel families with the aggregate loss to these households estimated at $116,000.

Since July 11, this office has worked closely and continuously with federal, state, and county emergency officials, and Maine's congressional delegation to insure that Bethel will receive all it can in the way of monetary aid to repair both publicly-owned and privately-owned properties.

Despite Bob Laux' assertion to the contrary as printed in last week's Citizen, there does not appear to be any sort of outright federal-state aid available for private property damaged by the storm. After reading Bob's letter to the editor (which described a conversation between himself and an unnamed "FEMA expert attorney") and then sharing his printed comments with the various federal-state-county officials already cited, my understanding of eligibility remains the same.

Perhaps Bob will be proven right if and when new information arises in the future. And perhaps there will be public assistance for those private homes damaged. Time will tell on both counts. We'll keep looking for the truth.

As an aside, the town did repair those two privately-owned driveways in the neighborhood on North Road by Chapman Brook which were destroyed by flooding. The work was done in conjunction with adjacent road repair.

PATS MIGHT JUST BE BACK

To the Editor:

When the wife of a former NFL player comes up to you at the end of a fundraising dinner and tells you that this was the best event she has ever attended with her husband and that they would be glad to return despite the four-plus-hour drive, you know you have supportive people to thank.

Although the attendance was not as strong as we had hoped for, the fun, laughs and camaraderie with the alumni New England Patriots last weekend couldn't have been more genuine and encouraging. The hospitality was exceptional, and it was clear that they immediately felt comfortable here and enjoyed their stay.

The local youth football organizations would like to express deep thanks to Sunday River, Oxford Networks, SAD44, Schiavi Homes, Grover Gun Drilling, Bennett's Lumbering, Lance Bean & Co., and all of the volunteers for making last Saturday's time with the Patriots possible. The looks on our kids' faces as they played against them, listened to the advice and then the stories said it all. With all of the negative publicity about professional athletes in the media, we couldn't have wished for a nicer or more friendly group with a better message to visit and spend time with our kids.

For those who wanted to attend but could not, take heart — the Patriots just might be back someday. The Patriots themselves said so.

GROOMER NEEDS OUR HELP

To the Editor:

Local Sunday River trail groomer Brandon Palmer, 25, will be sitting out this season due to a serious swimming accident that has left him with limited use of his arms and paralyzed from the chest down. Friends and family are trying to raise money to send him to Georgia for specialized ongoing therapy.

A Brandon Palmer Therapy Fund has been set up at Northeast Bank, for anyone wishing to make a donation. Donations may be mailed to Northeast Bank, c/o Brandon Palmer Therapy Fund, PO Box 850, Bethel, ME 04217. Any and all donations will be greatly appreciated.

A benefit pig roast and dance will be held this Saturday, Aug. 25, at the Legion Hall in Locke's Mills from 3 to 8 p.m. for anyone wishing to attend.

Thank you in advance to anyone willing to help.

'QUADRIPLLEGICS CAN DO'

To the Editor:

I am the quadriplegic who first went on a trek across Maine to raise awareness of stem cell research a couple of years ago. More recently I've gone skydiving and scuba diving, and most recently held a book signing in Wal-Mart's in Oxford County and in Farmington. My book is entitled "Quadriplegics Can Do, Volume I: A Social Worker's Journey Navigating Paralysis." A significant portion of the proceeds will be contributed to help new spinal cord injury victims across Maine acclimate into the world of paralysis.

A book signing will be held at Books 'N Things in Bethel on Aug. 28 and 29, all day. Come by and purchase a copy or donate to the cause.

Thank you, and see you Tuesday and Wednesday.

'CROP' HUNGER WALK

To the Editor:

Hunger and poverty are rampant in our world, and something can and must be done about them.

Our local CROP Hunger Walk is a great place to start. For a few hours and a few miles, friends and neighbors will be coming together to, in the words of 1 John 3:18: "let us love, not in word or speech, but in truth and action."

On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16, at 1 p.m., the Bethel Area CROP Hunger Walk will be held to show our love for neighbors in need near and far.

The participants, ranging from newborns to nonagenarians, will be raising funds to change the world in real and measurable ways — digging wells that will bring clean water to villages; providing seeds and tools that people can grow their own food; helping communities and families rebuild after disaster.

Whether it's a devastating hurricane on the U.S. Gulf Coast or a killer earthquake in the mountains of northwest Pakistan, CROP Hunger Walks are making a difference. After all, the letters CROP mean Communities Responding to Overcome Poverty.

CROP Hunger Walk funds will benefit the overall work and ministry of Church World Service — working in some 80 countries to help those in need help themselves through refugee assistance, self-help development programs, advocacy, and disaster relief. And, it's important to note that 25 percent of what we raise will help the Good Shepherd Food Bank in their important work here in Bethel and surrounding towns in Maine.

So please mark your calendars and come CROP Walk with us! Together — with your family, group, or congregation — we can walk to change the world, one step at a time.

And if you can't walk on that day, or just want to broaden your horizon of sponsors, you can walk on the Web with us. Visit www.cropwalkonline.org to find out how.

All are welcome to join us Sundays at 10 a.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church, United Church of Christ; we have a lot of exciting programs planned for adults and children of all ages.

For more information, please contact Christine Trefethen (836-2164) or Jane Chandler (665-2264), co-chairs, at West Parish Congregational Church or www.cropwalk.org.

OPPOSE TRAPPING IN REFUGE

To the Editor:

If you think trapping helpless animals with body-gripping traps is a barbaric tradition that needs to be outlawed, along with other barbaric traditions such as dogfighting and cockfighting, and especially if you think it has no place on a National Wildlife Refuge, then we have an easy action for you to take to voice your opinion of a very outrageous proposal.

Just go here and sign the petition to oppose fur trapping at Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge: www.thepetitionsite.com/1/oppose-trapping.

And to help further, and actually this is the most important part, please write a comment opposing fur trapping at Lake Umbagog, to Nancy McGarigal, Planning Team Leader, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 300 Westgate Center Drive, Hadley, MA 01035, or e-mail: northeastplanning@fws.gov.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is hoping to open up Lake Umbagog NWR, located in the northern forests of New Hampshire and Maine, to fur trapping.

In its 15 years of existence there has been no fur trapping or fur-bearer management at Lake Umbagog NWR and there are no problems with fur-bearers. The natural balance of prey and predator is working quite well.

For more information please read the summary and letter of the petition. Contact us at (603) 226-4344 or info@nhanimalrights.org if you need more info.

ARTS FESTIVAL THANKS

To the Editor:

The Maine Performing Arts Festival enjoyed a very successful second season ending on Aug. 12.

The program was a nice mix of musical theatre presentation, musical concert, and puppet theatre.

This endeavor has required contributions of many sorts from many people and organizations. Principle sponsors for the event were Sunday River Ski Resort, Les Otten through two companies, P3ProSwing and Colony Development, and Gould Academy.

Many other area businesses and individuals contributed generously in support of Festival events this year.

The Board of Directors of the Maine Performing Arts Festival, which spent the year planning and fundraising for this summer's event included Lynn Arizzi, Jim Costello, Dutch Dresser, Joe Drummond, John Todd, and Vicki Rackliffe.

For two consecutive seasons, the Board has enjoyed the spirited, professional leadership of its artistic director, Andrew Harris. Andrew is specially thanked for efforts in helping to establish this fledgling program during his otherwise busy schedule directing L/A Arts.

Special thanks are also in order for Caroline Ochtera and the marketing staff of Sunday River Ski Resort who have mounted very professional marketing campaigns on behalf of the effort for these past two years.

The management of the week was expertly handled by House Manager Lynn Arizzi, Volunteer Coordinator Susan Herlihy, and Artist Support Coordinator Patti Parsons.

Those who supported the event with their time and effort included Ellie Andrews, Joe Arizzi, Dot Bartlett, Diana Bell, Leslie Bonney, Agus Boschetti, Carol Campbell, Charleen Chase, Anita Clark, Nancie Coan, Ginny Cole, Leslie Cooley, Amy Davis, Polly Davis, Elaine Dresser, Joanna Drummond, Sarah Edes, Larry Engdahl, Marlene Engdahl, Ginny Gamble, Caroline Gould, Bill Herlihy, Lorrie Hoeh, Wendy Iseman, Becky Kendall, Sharon Lyons, Karen Paul, Ginger Rickerman, Marilyn Sahlberg, Sandra Seaver, Martha Siegel, Sarah Southam, Samantha Southam and friends, Jan Stowell, Mary Stryker, Ann Stuer, Gary Stuer, Nick Stuer, Roberta Taylor, Rosabelle Tift, Jacqui Van Leuven, Michelle Varuolo, Peggy Wight.

Review of this year's festival and plans for next year are underway now. If you would like to be directly involved with the Maine Performing Arts Festival, or if you have ideas to share, please speak with any board member.

Very appreciatively,

Dutch Dresser

If any veteran is interested, come to our meeting in Rumford at the Legion Hall on Congress Street the night of Aug. 23 at 6 p.m.

Be a guest on behalf of the Legion Riders and see about starting your own group or joining ours.

Questions will be answered to the best of our knowledge, and more can be learned at the next state meet in Rumford on Sept. 8.

TIME TRAIL RESULTS AND THANKS

To the Editor:

A total of 71 racers turned out on Sunday for the sixth Bethel Time Trial sponsored by the Sudbury Inn and Chase Cyclery.

Perfectly clear skies, and cool temperatures made it a truly fantastic day to race. Ron Bourgoin of Windham won the race (with just three seconds over Ryan MacDonald), by averaging nearly 27mph with a winning time of 28 minutes 57 seconds.

Erin Brennan was the top female racer with a winning time of 33:33 averaging over 23mph. Local cyclist Jeff Hershberger of Greenwood made a very impressive "First Timer" finish time of 35:09.

Congratulations to the 13 racers racing their first time trial. The other remarkable feature of this year's race was the great turnout of 11 young adults (under 18) who all show promise.

On the other end of the scale, our superb senior cyclists Dave Hatch and George Walsh both raced at a very healthy 85 years of age!

And our volunteers were just a fabulous crew. Thanks so much to Nancy White, Becky Secrest, Tish Carr, Dale Gilmour, Todd Gilmour, Terri Mills, Merle Ring, Bill Olsen, Jim Colson-Hendrick, and Tina Madore.

Thanks to the American Legion Post 81 for the use of their parking area, and all the good folks in the Bethel area who kindly shared the road with us.

Huge thanks to the town of Bethel and MaineDOT for repaving part of Route 35 which allowed us to keep the original race route.

Finally, thanks to the Bethel TT Sponsor, the Sudbury Inn and Chase Cyclery, and race series sponsor Aegis Bicycles.

All Bethel articles approved

BETHEL—It took 48 voters only a quarter hour to approve seven articles on a special Town Meeting warrant Monday evening. After electing Dutch Dresser moderator, voters took up three articles dealing with funding for riverbank stabilization near the Riverside Cemetery. They agreed to appropriate $180,000 for the work, with 75 percent of the money to come from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and 25 percent from the Riverside Cemetery Association. The remaining three articles dealt with the cost of repair work undertaken by the town and the Bethel Water District following the June 11 flash flooding in the Chapman Brook watershed. Voters agreed to appropriate $83,500 for repairs to Angevine Park and the North Road, with the federal and state government picking up, respectively, 75 and 15 percent of that cost. They also agreed to submit an application for an $80,000 Community Development Block Grant to reimburse the Water District for costs incurred in its efforts to ensure a continuous supply of potable water after the rainstorm. Town Manager Scott Cole told the voters that it did not appear likely that any state or federal funds would be available to directly assist private property owners deal with flood damage (see letter to the editor, preceding page).

ANDOVER—Memory Lane Vacations and Andover have been chosen as a filming location for the television show, Best of America by Horseback Sept. 7-9. The fair features an apple pie cook-off by local homemakers and a bonfire social on Friday night for registered riders. Saturday's events will also include BBQ lunch tents, live music and a 4-H speaking demonstration. Show sponsors will provide "hands-on" demonstrations and educational seminars. There will be a banquet on Saturday night (reservation and fee in advance) followed by musical entertainment from cowboy musician/poet Del Shields. Sunday morning will be "Cowboy Church" on horseback and more trail riding. Other than an advance registration fee for riders, the Horse Fair events will be open to the public free of charge. The event at each location will be showcased in a special Best of America by Horseback television show.

Blood drive Monday

GREENWOOD—An American Red Cross Blood Drive will take place Monday, Aug. 27 from 1 to 6 p.m. at the American Legion Hall on the Gore Road in Locke Mills. For an appointment contact Olive at 665-2909 or the Red Cross at 1-800-GIVE-LIFE. Donors may enter to win two tickets to a Boston Red Sox game. A valid ID is required (www.newenglandblood.org).

Beware of letter and phone scams

BETHEL—Area residents are reminded to watch out for scam letters and phone calls announcing that the recipient is a sweepstakes winner. "If you haven't entered a sweepstakes, you're not going to win any money," said Bethel Police Chief Alan Carr. He said a resident recently received a letter saying she had won money and needed to pay a fee to claim the prize and release the money. Sometimes people will receive a check that they are directed to cash and repay a portion to the sender. Most letter scams originate outside the U.S., he said. Phone scams, in addition to including sweepstakes, can also attempt to elicit information the caller can use to steal someone's identity. "They say they need your social security number or other identification. Never give it out," said Carr. And if a caller says they are collecting money for a good cause, ask that written information be sent first.

MPA awarded erosion grant

WATERFORD - The McWain Pond Association (MPA) received a $42,000 grant through the Maine Department of Environmental Protection to control erosion. Work on the two-year project begins in April 2008. Earlier this year, MPA completed a survey of the 3.9-square mile McWain Pond Watershed. A watershed is all that land that drains to a lake via brooks, groundwater, seeps and springs. Community volunteers, with guidance from technical experts, combed the watershed to document sources of erosion. The watershed survey disclosed 95 sites (town and camp roads, ditches, driveways, parking areas and residences) that erode into the pond or its tributaries. "We're very pleased to receive this grant," said Tony Butterall, president of MPA. "With the help of the town and property owners we hope to fix all 95 sites." Soil erosion is the chief pollutant fouling Maine lakes. Soil particles that wash from the land carry phosphorus. If too much phosphorus enters a lake the result can be an explosion of algae because phosphorus fertilizes algae growth. These algae blooms ruin swimming, fishing, boating and depress shoreline property values. Rapid development in a lake watershed often leads to increased soil erosion. For this reason, the Maine Department of Environmental Protection placed McWain Pond on its list of endangered water bodies. The grant allows MPA to share the cost, on a 50-50 basis, of fixing erosion sites with the town, businesses and landowners. When needed, the grant will pay an engineer to design erosion control solutions for complex problems. MPA plans to target the priority erosion sites that were found in the watershed survey to significantly reduce soil runoff into McWain Pond. Additionally, MPA, through the grant, will provide technical assistance to homeowners who seek advice about how to reduce erosion from their property. Project partners include Lakes Environmental Association, Town of Waterford, Camp Waziyatah, Birch Rock Camp, Portland Water District and the Maine DEP. Like the watershed survey that preceded it, this grant is a voluntary, cooperative effort. There is no regulation involved.

Former warden releases latest book

BETHEL—Retired Game Warden Randall Probert of Bethel, who lived at Knowles Corner in Moro Plantation for 13 years, recently released his latest book, another historical novel situated at Knowles Corner, Aroostook County. In the book the local warden, Ian Randall, chases those on the other side of the fish and game laws on the west side of Route 11. And one poacher in particular, who reminds Ian of Parnell Purchase, Roscoe Patch. Ian is more intrigued with Roscoe's seemingly sudden wealth than he is with his illegal activities. As the clock is ticking down toward Ian's retirement deadline, he encounters Horace Holigard at the old Hastings Farm on West Hastings Brook in T7-R5, looking for a chest of buried treasure. One of the characters in the book, Gerald Mitchell of Dyer Brook, passed away this last winter. He was 94, and the stories in the book told by Gerald are true, Probert said.

and Dixfield (21), the Rangeley school union and SAD17 (Paris) have also been mentioned as possible SAD44 partners.

The SAD17 School Board voted Monday against pursuing a merger with any other system, so that option is apparently off the table.

(That district must still file a letter requesting to pursue an "alternative plan" that does not include consolidation. The alternative plan is an option for districts that currently have 2,500 or more students.)

The state consolidation plan calls for inter-district committees to be formed to draw up a merger proposal(s) by Dec. 1. The plans must be submitted to the state then.

If approved there, a referendum vote would then take place in the existing school systems.

Numbers

Murphy Monday outlined the preliminary figures provided by the state showing the financial impact of a merger with SAD43 and SAD21.

He stressed the numbers are far from carved in stone and are still being refined.

The numbers show that joining SAD43 alone could collectively cost SAD44 towns an additional $50,000 to $60,000, based on this year's school budget. SAD43 would save that amount.

In a SAD44/43/21 scenario, SAD44 would likely pay between $275,000 and $300,000 more.

The reason, said Murphy, is that the other two districts currently receive more in state aid than does SAD44. The Bethel district's relatively higher valuation would likely put more of the burden on the SAD44 towns.

The figures were calculated with the current "Newry" local cost-sharing formula in place.

Two years ago an exemption from a new local cost-sharing formula was granted to SAD44. Had the new formula been applied here, it would have shifted much of the local cost from property-rich Newry to other district towns.

Costs of independence

Regardless of the merger scenario(s) SAD44 pursues, school directors asked Murphy to also estimate the financial penalties that would be incurred if the district opts to remain independent.

If that happened, the state would cut aid for central office administrative by 50 percent (based on FY'06 costs). Also cut would be money for new facility construction and potential transition aid in the event of a major financial problem.

But SAD44 this year slashed its administrative costs by nearly 50 percent, and the other two scenarios are unlikely for the district, Murphy said.

Information on the potential penalties, as well as the merger costs, will be publicly available prior to a referendum vote, he said.

The vote itself, however, would be a yes-no on a merger plan. Murphy said the vote theoretically could happen in January, but June appears to be more likely.

Appeal

but the exemption "does not apply to a property such as Round Pond Station that was purchased and converted into a commercial enterprise renting to groups of between 20 and 25 persons for as little as two days at a time," according to a preliminary conclusion at law drafted by Appeals Board member Henry Stewart.

A subsequent conclusion states: "The Board reverses the decision of the Planning Board in granting the three permits issued to Mr. Wells [Jonathan Wells, the owner of Round Pond Station] since that decision was clearly contrary to the above terms of the Ordinance in that it allowed a commercial enterprise to operate in a Limited Residential District."

The Greenwood Appeals Board currently has two members. The second, Chairman Cathy Newell, indicated last week that she agreed.

"It's not a camp. It's not a single family thing. It's a lodging establishment," Newell said.

And there is ample testimony in letters from abutters and other property owners near Round Pond Station that it is having an adverse impact on the neighborhood, Newell said.

'Mission creep'

Wells purchased the 1.5-acre property in 2000. It was then a one-family, one-bedroom camp.

He began expanding the facilities, and was eventually advertising Round Pond Station on the Internet as having eight bedrooms, five bathrooms and accommodating up to 30 people.

Newell referred to the process as "mission creep."

Only after neighbors began complaining to the town about the impact the resort was having (traffic, noise, lighting, trash as well as alleged environmental damage) did Wells apply for any town permits.

The town Planning Board initially urged the selectmen to close down Round Pond

Station, but the planners soon reversed themselves and granted three after the fact change-of-use permits.

Final action Monday

The Greenwood Appeals Board has now met three times on the Round Pond Station appeal.

On Monday evening the board will reconvene for what is expected to be its final meeting on the matter.

The board will adopt formal findings of fact and conclusions at law Monday, and will determine what remedial steps it will take.

One option would be to demand the matter to the Planning Board, with instructions to revoke the three permits and restrict Round Pond Station to one-family rentals for no more than six people.

At last week's hearing, Wells and his attorney, Gary M. Prolman of Portland, indicated they planned to appeal the Appeals Board's decision.

Principal: High-school students like having an officer on the property

By ALISON ALOISIO

Monday's School Board meeting is expected to include a discussion and possibly a vote on hiring a resource police officer for the Telstar complex.

An officer was stationed at Telstar for the last few weeks of this past school year, following a series of bomb threats.

At the end of the year, school officials said, students asked if an officer could be maintained at the school on a regular basis.

"The students felt very comfortable and really liked having the officer," said THS principal Ted Davis Monday. "It was a very positive experience."

Murphy agreed. "They not only enjoyed it but appreciated the level of security provided by the officer," he said.

Murphy said while a resource officer had not been included in this year's school budget, funding for the position might be available from the contingency account.

Or, with several staff positions unfilled so far for the school year, extra funds might be available, he said.

School directors said they wanted to have more details on the proposal and see a job description before voting on the question.

Meeting

But at the time voters also suggested they would be willing to reconsider a lower level of recreational spending at a later date.

Accordingly, town selectmen came back Tuesday with a proposal to spend a total of $4,000, with half of that money earmarked for the picnic area.

But in a show of hands Tuesday, voters again said "no."

A second item on the warrant was also being brought back from the March meeting.

The Fire Department had proposed in March to spend $225,000 for a new rescue/equipment vehicle (or "squad truck").

It was needed, Chief Jim Owen said, to replace a 1982 school bus currently used by the department to transport gear and equipment, including the Cascade System used for refilling air tanks.

The system, Owen noted, is Greenwood's contribution to the mutual aid equipment pool shared by towns in northern Oxford County.

But voters in March balked at spending that much money, and Owen was directed to come back later with a less costly proposal.

On Tuesday, he did, proposing that the town spend $75,000 on a 1992 Ford LTL9000 truck that was available from a fire department in Maryland.

Owen said Tuesday that for the $75,000 the town would not only be getting the truck itself, but also $132,000 of associated gear the Maryland department was including.

The town Capital Improvement Committee calculated that the purchase (to be funded by a five-year loan) would cost the average Greenwood property owner a total of $65 (or $13 a year).

The town selectmen and the CIC members recommended the purchase, but the voters present Tuesday were not buying.

In a secret ballot, the proposal failed 44-30.

Ordinances approved

Voters did agree Tuesday to adopt a town littering ordinance, and a revised and updated Appeals Board ordinance.

The special Town Meeting lasted just under two hours, and was punctuated by occasional tirades against property taxes and the townwide revaluation that is currently staggering toward a long overdue conclusion.

Greenwood's tax rate last year was $17.75. This year it is expected to drop to $9.85, according to Town Manager Kim Sparks.

But the lower rate is on a much increased valuation base, and some shorefront property owners will see their tax bills more than double this year.

Apples

But even that event had a silver lining for this year, Gibson said.

Without a large number of apples to "feed," the trees "rested some and the energy [produced by the trees] was put into the trees," he said.

And the rain that wreaked so much havoc in the Bethel Water District watershed, just up the road from Gibson, was a blessing to the orchard.

"I got three inches here," he said.

That was followed by a stretch two weeks later during which rain totaled more than four inches, said Gibson.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

I have just about had it up to here with SPAM and I'm not referring to the mystery meat either.

Anyone who has spent any time on the Internet knows exactly what I'm talking about. SPAM is the annoying emails we get advertising everything from car insurance to free DVD's.

If you type your email address just about anywhere in cyberspace you become a prime target for SPAM. If you are naive enough to actually open up one of the spamatisements and respond to it, you automatically triple your incoming SPAM. I know because that's what I did once and have been paying for it every since.

Once upon a time in my early computing days I got excited whenever I received an email from a friend or a forwarded joke, but in those good old days (a few short years ago) I averaged 5 or 6 messages a day. Now I average 400 or 500 messages a day, yet only 5 or 6 are friends or forwarded jokes.

You may have heard a lot about SPAM filters and through my Internet Service Provider figuring bye-bye SPAM forever. Far less junk mail finds its way into my email inbox, but because some of the good email sometimes ends up in the SPAM filter, I still have to check that every-day.

I resist the temptation to check some of them out, but I have to admit that the message in the subject lines do make me a bit curious.

Just today, for example, I had no less than 10 offers to refinance my home with interest rates ranging anywhere from 3.7% to the incredible low of 1.95%. No credit checks, no questions asked. One enterprising sender called "Crown Specialists" not only wants to refinance my home for 3.25%, they also want to find me a date.

I get a lot of those dating ones telling me that someone in South Paris is interested in me or promiscuous singles are seeking me out. Maybe because I spend so much time on the Internet the assumption is that I'm lonely and need a date. Still, I wonder who in South Paris is interested in me.

I'm probably missing a lot of great opportunities by not responding to some of the SPAM. As well as the refinancing and date offers I received today, I also was offered the chance to make $1,000 a week, fire my boss, quite my day job, get rich from the comfort of my own home. I'll bet those are all job offers to send SPAM to other people.

I passed up claiming a lot of prizes that I won today too. There were several DVD players and home entertainment centers, a digital camera, a couple of computers and a complete facial makeover. I even won a Ford Explorer and several all-expense paid trips, but I couldn't bring myself to check those notifications out. You know the old adage "If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is too good to be true."

If I wanted to obtain prescription drugs without a prescription, I received 11 emails that would tell me how, but I didn't respond to them either.

I got 6 email messages telling me about Oprah's Secret Diet leading me to believe that it's probably not much of a secret after all.

I got several offers for debt counseling or consolidation. One was from Christian Debt Management offering financial help with a Christian perspective. What do they do, pray the debt away?

Education seems to be offered in abundance through SPAM too. This morning Online University said I could get a degree in only 18 months. This afternoon Education Provider topped that with a degree in just 12 months. I'm sure those degrees could open some pretty big doors for me, but I passed them up anyway.

I also passed up 14 credit card offers, all pre-approved too. I don't know how they could be pre-approved considering some were addressed to BOUCHARD and some to slb@midmaine.com. Is it any wonder that there is a major problem with the escalating cost of credit card debt in this country? Sounds to me like a direct path to Christian Debt Management's services.

I certainly won't go into the sexually explicit SPAM, but I had 25 of those today and I have never once been to any of the X-rated websites. Just the message lines made me blush. I did get an email from "Pearline" boasting a large sperm bank. I don't know if that comes under X-rated or if it was an advertisement for a fertility clinic.

There was a cute email from Tamra Madison that said "I miss you". That's so sad, because I don't even know Tamra Madison.

Needless to say, I spend way too much time deleting unwanted SPAM. I'm sure some are attempts to steal my identity, but most just want to steal my money of which I have precious little.

The way I see it I would prefer to get my junk in my mailbox so I can just toss it in the trash and take my SPAM in the can with some Franco-American spaghetti on the side. Still, I do wonder who in South Paris is interested in me.

Lights

Telstar High School, for ski team training later in the day. Right now they have to rush out to get three runs in, and then the lifts close."

Aloisio said to minimize the visual impact from glow of the lights, the lights would be "shuttered" and aimed downward.

The newer technology will be an improvement on what is currently used at the resort's tubing trail, he said.

In some places there would be light poles on both sides of the trails.

Higher up, where the trails are narrower, the poles would be placed on only one side, he said.

While the trails would be open to skiers only until 10:30 p.m., he said, but a sweep of the mountain afterward to check for stragglers would likely keep the lights on until 11 p.m.

A planner raised the question of whether the lights would be left on later and at other times to aid groomers.

Marvin Collins, vice president of operations at the mountain, also attended the meeting, and responded to the question.

"Over my dead body," he said. "We're just not going to do that."

Who would see lights?

The planners and Aloisio speculated on what parts of town would be able to see the lights.

Aloisio said Mt. Will, Locke Mountain and Merrill Hill would block a direct view for some, but other residents part-way up the Bear River Valley would see the lights.

David Walker said the upper Sunday River Valley would see the glow, "and maybe the tops of a few light towers."

Collins said the towers would be below the treetops.

The estimated cost of the project is $500,000.

The board will consider the application at its next meeting on Sept. 5.

(The writer is married to Sunday River engineer Joe Aloisio.)

At 10 p.m. Lt. S.R. White responded to Railroad Street for a gas theft. A be-on-the-lookout was put out on a Massachusetts license plate.

Friday, Aug. 17

At 3:25 p.m. Officer Jack Taylor responded to a business for a hit and run property-damage crash.

At 11:40 p.m. on the Parkway Lt. S.R. White arrested Amanda B. Laban, 28, of Denver, Colo. for attaching false plates.

Thursday, Aug. 16

At 11:20 p.m. Officer Travis Fillmore responded to the West Bethel Road for a report the road was flooded on one lane. MDOT was called to clean out the storm drain.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists cases reported in the log of adults being arrested or issued a summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of police activity, such as routine speeding tickets and other civil violations. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

Tips from the Bethel Police Department

1. If you dial 911 by mistake, don't hang up. Stay on the line and tell the dispatcher what happened.
2. So that responders can find you quickly in an emergency, make sure your house number is clearly visible from the road — on the house if it is near the road, or on a mailbox or post if the house sits more than 50 feet back.
3. Watch out for scam letters and phone calls. A letter may state you have won money and need to pay a fee to claim the prize and release the money. Sometimes people will receive a check they are directed to cash, and then repay a portion to the sender. Phone scams may also attempt to elicit information (such as a social security number or birth date) the caller can use to steal someone's identity. And if a caller says they are collecting money for a good cause, ask that written information be sent first.

"I like working at Rumford Hospital because it provides me the opportunity to work in a rural community hospital."

I split my time between CMMC, a Level II trauma facility and Rumford Hospital, which offers me the best of both worlds. What I like about Rumford is the change of pace and the friendly and supportive staff.

What Central Maine Medical Family brings to Rumford is an exceptional group of well-trained emergency physicians, all of whom are certified by the American Board of Emergency Medicine. There are few rural community hospitals in the country that have such a fine group of emergency physicians.

Rumford is fortunate, too, to have a newly renovated and expanded state-of-the-art emergency department."

Bethel

Mayville and Around Town By Donald G. Bennett

August is the month when one of Bethel's best known brand names is on the street and in the marketplace — sweet corn from Swain's Farm. Restaurants and grocers make sure that their customers know that the corn they eat came from this Bethel farm.

The Swain family moved to Bethel from Frye (north of Rumford) in 1936. Ruel Swain, who had his 80th birthday this last year, said that having a railroad pass your back door was the same in both locations. When the Swains bought the farm in Bethel only a small amount of acreage on Bond's Island was included.

A number of nearby (Steam Mill) residents owned small lots on the island but over the years the Swains were able to buy many of these lots so that now they have about 100 island acres.

Ruel's son, Ed, has taken over farming operations and is preparing more acreage for cultivation on the island. Ruel told me that island soil is not muddy in rain and retains moisture when there is drought.

The Swains have experienced about the same kind of river erosion problems as has the Riverside Cemetery. Future erosion remains a concern — as it is possible a new natural river channel will cut through the east end of the island. Ruel said that about 20 years ago the Army Corps of Engineers offered to write a plan for rip rapping his river banks but the Swains would have to pay for the actual work — estimated to be $80,000 at the time.

About 1968 Ruel bought the about 1948 model Oliver 66 tractor that my father had bought for Riverside Farm. As of Sunday it was still in use but it was on the island so I didn't see it — not bad for a nearly 60-years-old machine.

The Bethel Pathway extension from the recreational bridge over the Androscoggin River to the North Road was paved a week ago last Monday. Town of Bethel Public Works Department did the paving job and the job was paid for by a grant from the Recreational Trails Program (RTP).

Another step in this trail's development is planned to occur after Labor Day when the town and the Cheney's will work out the details of property transfers of land in back of Mayville businesses — an area that reaches from the Norseman Inn to Twitchell Brook.

A future trail pathway from the North Road to Twitchell Brook will be one factor in how easements and trail boundaries will be drawn. Once finished, bikers and walkers could travel from the Good Food Store to Davis Park. It could also serve as a link in a future Bethel to Sunday River trail.

Savage Contracting and Cross Excavation planned to begin work on the Riverside Cemetery riverbank on Tuesday morning; they plan to be done by Labor Day. Five to six thousand cubic yards of gravel and rock will be hauled into the cemetery to construct a riprap along 180 feet of the eroded riverbank.

At least 345 truckloads of material must be backed into position along a narrow construction roadway that will lay between the cemetery graves and the edge of the bank. Clayton Gould will have charge of placing all this material into a stone-faced sloped wall that from top to river bottom covers 34 feet in elevation. Scott McLaren will be work inspector for the town of Bethel and the Riverside Cemetery Association. Alice Goodwin will be the onsite inspector for the Natural Resources Conservation Service and has overall responsibility to make sure that the work fits the plan.

Monday's Sun Journal article about the Aug. 20 Town Meeting was in error when the writer claimed that the cemetery association wanted to contribute money for the project.

The cemetery association requested that the town pay the local costs for riverbank repair due to damage done to a public cemetery and that a natural disaster event had damaged the bank threatening old graves.

Department of global warming: Bethel's June and July temperatures were cooler this year than last year. The average daily mean temperature for June and July 2006 was 71 degrees versus a three and one-half degrees drop to 67.54 in 2007.

We were disappointed to have missed the Blue Willow Band concert and the Mahosuc Community Band concert last Sunday. Hope those who attended appreciate the opportunity to enjoy such fine music.

Steve Seames sent this report from the Hill (Bethel): He had noticed a great change in the leaves near the swamp at the edge of the lowland road from Bethel to Mason via Grover Hill — just following the recent rains.

Brooks Bros.' crew is very ably repairing and replacing clapboards plus adding a fine coat of red tones paint to the building — dressing up Bethel Hill considerably. On the other hand, the view from Elm and High streets still includes blue port-a-potties behind the Bethel Shop and Save; hope the new Gould parents don't see them!

Tom White has two more sculpture installation trips to make: In August or early September at Westerville, Ohio (near Columbus), he will install a life-size scene of Christ and two children for Central College Presbyterian Church. This scene was given as a gift to honor their retiring Pastor Richard D. Ellsworth's 48 years of ministry to the church. Tom will also be installing four life-size figures of a boy playing basketball, a teenager with Korean child, a little mixed race boy and Christ at New Life Youth Center in Milton, Ontario, Canada in late September. He is currently working on a life-size sculpture of a little three-year-old boy who died of leukemia last year to be placed on his grave in Cave Hill Cemetery, Louisville, Ky. His name was Will Berndt.

Going back to last week's lecture about minerals and mining in the Albany area. Bethel's railroad depot was the rail shipping point from Bumpus Mine in Albany to Perham's mill in West Paris. Rail shipments left Bethel in 30-ton ore cars for the West Paris mill. What was feldspar's end product? High-quality pottery and porcelain. One example of consumer goods from feldspar is porcelain-coated cookware. (This was from the Van King lecture.) Beryl was mined, shipped and milled on the same route. However, after nuclear weapons were developed, beryllium (from beryl ore) was in high demand making the mining of beryl here much more profitable. The Perham-Bumpus agreements included beryl from the Bumpus mine. John Davis's extensive research, for those interested, will be found in the Railroad Journal of The Bethel Journals.

Last week's Citizen ran the story of putting the "apostrophes" back into the village name of Locke's Mills. But, failed to mention the "Locke" part of the village's name. The Locke story goes that Samuel Barron Locke came to Bethel between 1795 and 1797 to settle his family in the Sunday River valley of Bethel, the area now known generally as Swan's Corner.

According to another Greenwood native and historian, William Lapham, Locke was best known for his skill as a millwright, mechanic and innovator. Locke had built water-powered mills on the Sunday River and in Ketchum (Riley). Forest fires in Riley quickly invoked the need for additional mills to saw as much salvageable timber as possible and as fast as possible.

This situation led Locke to buy land and create additional water-powered mills along the outlet flows of ponds in the Greenwood area. Locke built his Greenwood mills in the 1820s.

In later years Bethel's Locke family went to become nationally known due to the far-flung homes of vacation guests coming to the Locke sisters' summer boarding house which flourished until the last descendant died in 1913. Permanently, Locke Mountain stands in the former farm's background.

So the follow-up question is what was the village of Locke's Mills called before Locke built the mills?

The weather really feels like fall. The other night when the temperature dipped into the low 50s, the windows were closed and the extra blanket was brought out.

My brother, Steve McLain, stopped by last Saturday to check out the book sale that Alice was having at the Town Hall.

Capt. Stephen McLain and his family have safely arrived at Fort Eustis, Va. He will be stationed there for a while.

On Aug. 18, Wayne Taylor and Linda Smith celebrated their 29th Anniversary. Also on that day, their grandson, Brandon McLean celebrated his first birthday. Brandon is the youngest child of Jamie and Alicia McLean. A party was held on Saturday at the Town Hall. Besides his sister, Morgan, and brother, Tanner, there were many family and friends in attendance. Everyone enjoyed ice cream and cupcakes that Alicia made to look like Elmo's face.

Selectmen's Meeting
The Selectmen met on Aug. 15. Some of the items discussed were the recent storm damage to the roads, the auditor, new Transfer Station hours and the new Town Office. The town should be hearing from FEMA soon regarding the amount of the funds that will be received. The auditor will be picking up the town books for the 2006 audit.

The hours for the Transfer Station will remain the same on Tuesday evening, but on Saturday, the hours will change soon. They will be posted at the Transfer Station. The Transfer Station will be closed on Saturday, Sept. 29, and open on Sunday, Sept. 30, instead.

The date for a Special Town Meeting has been set for Thursday, Sept. 20, to obtain funds to purchase a building for the Town Office and to do some work on the Town Hall. The next selectmen's meeting will be held on Sept. 19 instead of Sept. 12.

Special Town Meeting
There will be a Special Town Meeting held on Sept. 20 at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall. The main purpose of this meeting will be to ask the voters of the town of Gilead to attain funds to purchase the building next to the Town Hall, to do necessary repairs on it and to do some work on the Town Hall. This building will be renovated for use as the Gilead Town Office. Over the next few weeks there will be more information available. Please keep this date open.

Gilead Historical Society
There were several people who stopped by to check out the Book Sale at the Town Hall last weekend. Some had read the ad in The Citizen, but there were a few who were just traveling by and noticed the signs. Alice Strait was on hand to greet them and help them look for a book if they had a particular request. Alice is hoping to have another sale on Sept. 1, when she has had a chance to go through a few more of the old library books.

Once again we are enjoying a bumper crop of peaches from my two dwarf peach trees. I didn't really believe they would do well in Maine until I found the Reliant peach trees in a Miller's Nursery catalogue. These were developed in New York State and are an especially hardy strain. Last year and again this year my little trees are loaded with beautiful red-yellow-orange fruit that is much sweeter than the ones you find in supermarkets.

We are also "enjoying?" a "bumper" crop of Japanese beetles. These little pests feast on almost anything in the garden as well as fruit trees and especially the blossoms on rosebushes. For several years we put up beetle traps, but we have read that the traps attract more beetles to the area than they catch, so we quit that. Now, we try to pick the little suckers once or twice a day, often harvesting up to half a cup of beetles! Mona uses soapy water in dog food cans, but I prefer a little gasoline in the bottom of my cans. Then I can incinerate and make crispy critters out of 'em in the outdoor fireplace. Those pests just about denude my cherry trees; sometimes they have group orgies, with five or six beetles mounted together. I just hold the can under the leaf they are on and just tap them and they jump or fall in. Early morning or evenings just before dark work best because they are lethargic when it is cool, and fewer of them fly away before you "can 'em."

Ireland Trip, Day 7

Our first morning in Belfast was a Saturday, meaning that all banks were closed, and the only way we could purchase British pound currency was from the hotel, which did not give us the official exchange rate; we sighed and paid the price. About 9 a.m. Matt picked us up in the bus for an abbreviated tour of the city. We passed by a huge shipyard, with two of the world's largest cranes, Goliath and another, and which built the famous liner Titanic in 1912.

We then traveled into the Shankill area of Belfast because Iris Perham grew up there. As we drove through the area, tour leader Matt, attempting to point out points of interest, was drowned out by everybody else talking and laughing at once; becoming increasingly frustrated, Matt finally shouted, "For th' love o' God, shut yer buckets!" Everyone hushed, and then applause echoed through the bus. In the Shankill there was much graffiti and evidence of the "troubles" between protestants and catholics. Much of the graffiti consisted of all sorts of murals painted on brick walls of houses, gardens and public buildings, many of them attractive and well done. All conveyed messages, primarily about heroes of the catholic side of the conflicts, but also included several anti President Bush themes and other social issues.

Overshadowing the destruction and graffiti was evidence of re-building and construction everywhere, reflecting optimism and confidence that the worst of the troubles are over. Nearly every block contained construction cranes and equipment and partially completed concrete forms and footers.

We were back at the Jury Inn Hotel about lunchtime. After resting a while, most of our group took taxis and followed Iris back into the neighborhood where she grew up, because our bus was too large to negotiate the narrow streets there. Iris found that much had changed since she left as a young woman, but much was still recognizable. Mona and I decided to find a fish and chips restaurant that Matt had told us was the best in the area. We ended up walking a very long block from our hotel into an industrial area and finally found the restaurant. On entry, we found that they would not accept either American dollars, credit cards or Euros that we had in our pockets. Dejected, we walked back to the hotel to purchase pounds and then all the way back to the restaurant.

Ours was a very friendly middle-aged lady waitress with a very heavy northern Ireland accent; she talked so fast that we could barely make out a few words here and there! We enjoyed our verbal exchanges and an order of excellent fish and chips, well worth all the walking on a hot afternoon.

During the afternoon we took a "walking tour of the city" to get a little closer view of some of the things Matt had shown us. We walked three or four blocks to City Hall, an impressive edifice with many statues and monuments surrounding. Then we found a street with lots of little shops, where we unsuccessfully tried to find souvenirs, but we did encounter the Europa Hotel, where a group of people across the street were standing and looking up at the top of the hotel. When we looked, we could see three sets of ropes hanging from the roof of the building with three rapellers dangling on the ends of the ropes. It appeared that they must have been offering rappelling to folks brave enough to dangle down the side of a 10-story building.

Before supper we stopped in the hotel bar for a little "tipple" to wind down a bit. While there, we were attracted by a boisterous group of six or eight young women, barely out of their teens, sitting together in a booth, and all were wearing pink tee shirts and pink cowboy hats. As we watched, one girl seemed to be the center of attraction, and she seemed intent on getting loaded. After a while, they all got up and left the bar together.

As we hung around the hotel lobby awaiting our turn in the dining room; as we did so we noticed several other groups of young women dressed in garish attire topped by cowboy hats and boots. When we were seated, we asked our waitress about all the groups of young women. She told us, "It's hen night. One of the girls in each group is a prospective bride who is getting married in two weeks. Her friends all celebrate the occasion together, and sometimes the bride's mother chaperones the festivities!" As we dined, we noted several more "hen groups" trooping down the sidewalks, hailing cabs, or crossing the streets. We also learned that there was a band entertaining in the hotel bar that night, (Saturday) starting about 9:30 p.m., and much of our group planned to be there.

At about 9 p.m. Mona and I decided to check out the activities in the bar. Most of the seats were taken, but Doug and Kathy had managed to save a couple extra seats, as had Nancy and others. The band was a trio of fellows who were pretty good singers and good on the guitar, so it was quite an evening. They started loud, and as the beer began to take effect, they got louder. During the 11 p.m. intermission, Mona and I decided to fold up our tent. Although our room was four stories up and down the hall quite a ways, we could still hear the band, and they got more and more boisterous until about 2:30 a.m. (closing time!)

DUDDY SWORN IN AS AMBASSADOR BY CONDOLEEZA RICE—Patrick Duddy, a native of Bangor and the nephew of Albany resident Dotty Duddy, was sworn in as the Ambassador to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela on Aug. 9 in the Treaty Room on Capital Hill by Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice. Duddy has been in the Diplomatic core for more than 25 years, and recently was the U.S. Joint Secretary of State for the Western Hemisphere. Attending the ceremony were his wife Mary, his parents, Bob and Cecelia Duddy of Bangor, his brother, Mike Duddy of Cape Elizabeth and his wife, Jennifer, their children Sam and Ben, his brother, Terry of Falmouth Foreside, and his sister Christina and her husband Patrick Barrett of Boston. Dotty Duddy and her sister and husband Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chase of Northampton and their son, John Chase also were in attendance.

Next day we boarded our bus for the trip to Cabra Castle, where we were to spend our last night in Ireland, but getting there was almost half the fun. Along the way, we stopped at the town of Armagh (pronounced Ah-Mahh). This town is divided into two separate sections, one protestant and one catholic. They even have two St Patrick's cathedrals, one protestant and one catholic! We spent a short time on the grounds of the catholic cathedral but could not go inside because a worship service was just beginning.

Shortly before reaching Cabra Castle, we passed through the village of Carrickmacross, which Matt informed us was known for its lace making. As we drove onto the beautifully landscaped grounds of Cabra Castle, Matt told us they had the laziest dog he'd ever seen, an Irish wolfhound named Oscar. Sure enough, there was Oscar lying beside the driveway; the only movement we saw from him was when he got up and strolled behind the building and found another spot where he could stretch out in the shade!

Our accommodations here were in two connected stone buildings separated from the main castle by a lovely walled-in English garden complete with vine-covered arches covered with flowers. As we arrived, a castle crew was rolling out a red carpet in preparation for a wedding to take place that very afternoon. Presently the bridal party arrived in what I think was an antique Rolls convertible, which pulled up to the red carpet. The bride and groom were escorted up the steps to a balcony by a bagpiper.

We were told that a lot of couples come to be married in the castle.

That evening we weaved our way through the garden and numerous passageways in the castle until we found the dining room. In one stairway wall there hung a large painting of Oscar lying on the ground. Doug noted that the painter painted from a photo and didn't even take out the red-eye!

After another great meal and a quiet restful night's sleep, we were on the bus again and headed to Dublin airport. This day we drove through fields of rape (canola oil grass), barley and potatoes. Matt told us that our tour had taken us into all four Irish provinces and 17 of their 32 counties. As we approached the airport, I noted a couple more Irish signs: "Wendy's Little Chippy Wagon," (fish and chips), and "Detour," meaning "detour," and "Setdown Area," which I assume meant "Arrivals."

As we "de-bussed" we all exchanged e-mail addresses, thanked Matt with his wife, Eva, and all agreed that we had had a wonderful time together.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

A week ago I stopped at Rite Aid for a couple of things and ended up having a laugh-in. A classmate, Doug Morton, and his wife, Eva, were there getting pictures that had been developed, and Doug had just had surgery on his eye. We had to rehash a few things as well as to remind them of the luncheon on the 20th. Betsy Clark stopped by to get a pharmaceutical item, as Dick had just had a spur removed from his left foot by the large toe. She joined us, as did Sue Wight, who was also getting an item for John, who had just undergone surgery.

In Rumford last Thursday I saw Betsy at Marden's. She said Dick was in the car. On my way out I went over to talk with him. He said he was doing very well and was also doing the driving. The day Dick had surgery he and Betsy had been planning to go to their son's college graduation ceremony from Wayland Baptist University in Amarillo, Texas.

Bob Bartholomew had a special birthday on Saturday. The family would be together on Sunday to celebrate the occasion. He christened the day by taking a couple of dips in very cold Bear River on the 19th. He and Brenda have lovely grounds, with the porch decorated with many lovely flowerboxes. I must say I have never seen so many green plants inside a house as they have. Brenda said they do need lots of care — so readers don't get rid of a green plant, give her a call to save it.

I have been hearing of lots of lobster feeds lately. Saul and Johan were part of one at Roxbury this past weekend. Several people were there including Bizz and Sandy. Not sure just how many others made the event.

Sandra and Leon Dunn attended a lobster feed at the South Arm Campground at Richardson Lake on Friday evening. It was well attended and was given for those who had worked pre-season to get the campground ready for the summer.

Several classmates and spouses of Stephens High School, Class of 1950, met on Monday, the 20th, at Teena's in Rumford. In attendance were Noella Taylor, Louise Wentzell, Warren Stearns, Francis Miller, Margaret Martineau, Carl and Ruth Gallant, Rosabelle Tiff, Norman and Isabelle Robichaud, Dick Austin and myself. It is always great to see each other and catch up with the different interests we

Jeanette and Lionel Roy of East "B" Hill and Berlin,

N.H., have a massive patch of bee balm. It not only is a brilliant scarlet but it has a wonderful humming noise and lots of life. There is no way to count the hummingbirds infiltrating the flowers. It's an amazing sight. Lionel has a pet hummingbird. It sits on his finger and allows Lionel to pet it by stroking its back.

The coyotes have been howling or "singing" every night. Keep your cats in the house! Cats are a good meal to coyotes. I have a friend in Texas that keeps two donkeys. Coyotes are supposed to be not happy with donkeys.

Saturday night the Bull Moose Restaurant had the "Battle of the Bands" in their parking lot. Bandstands were erected. It was a well-while evening. It was well attended and music could be heard all over the lake till midnight. No! That wasn't loons howling, it was "Rock Music."

We have a new bear in town. Richard purchased a huge one from Gary Savage, who has the display on Route 26. He is ensconced in the front yard and will be named at the annual "Pearl Fysh Memorial Picnic." Ginny Williamson is still receiving visits from the live bear. He has destroyed her hummingbird feeders. He also smashed the feeder at the Penley camp.

There were several meetings last week. On Tuesday, Aug. 14, the Mahoosuc Region Report, with Jim Mitchell and Ginger Kelley was held in the schoolhouse. Representatives of the Appalachian Mountain Club, and the Wilderness also were present. It was a fine presentation with opinions offered by the attendees.

The U.S. Wildlife Refuge held a meeting in Errol with Paul Casey presiding. Questions were posed to the panel. Representatives from surrounding towns were permitted to ask two questions which the panel answered. Opinions on the future of the Wildlife Refuge will be received at the headquarters in Hadley Mass.

Summer feels like it's over since we are in a cool spell. On Aug. 20 the temperature dropped to 35 degrees. Covering plants at night is a good idea.

I have many, many bees and hornets at the feeders. The hummers do very well defending their territory, but they are outnumbered. I am reminded of an old poem. "Bees are such busy little souls, they have no time for birth control, that is why in times like these, there are so many Sons of Bees."

The Ladies Aid Craft and Bake Sale will be held on Saturday, Aug. 25, from 9 a.m. till 3 p.m.

Noah and Garrett Morton have been a great help to us and will be taking care of the White Elephant table. The ladies work hard to make this a success. Beneficiaries are the children at the annual Christmas Party.

The Upton Country Store has been very busy. Collie has been styling the ladies in her shop from as far away as Berlin. The beautiful young ladies that assist in the store are very helpful.

The "Bird of the Week" is the "barred owl" that flew in front of Sue Nelson's car on Mill Road after the Thursday's Refuge meeting. This large owl is only seen in dark retreats, or in the dark of night in the forest. It comes out to feed on rodents, birds, frogs and other "creepy crawler" crawfish which explains the empty shells along the beach. If it is disturbed it flies from one group of trees to another. Eleanor Brooks and Sue Nelson encountered one on the Burnham Road. It is startling and a treat to see.

A good time was had by all the Angelines at their annual Reunion this weekend.

Dotty and Roger Mills had supper with Polly and Dick Johnston at Roxbury Pond last week. On Wednesday, Polly and Dick left for a night at Bosebuck Camps — their daughter, Joye Reier, Brad Best, and Lester and Patty Richardson went also. The weather was not so nice but the food was excellent, and everyone had a wonderful time. They didn't see any moose. Polly and Dick then spent three days with their friends, Norm and Muriel Littlehale in Wilson's Mills. On Sunday, they left for Portland and had fried clams at Two Lights in Cape Elizabeth. On Monday they flew back home to Spanaway, Wash.

Historical Society

Paul and Vickie Billings watched the society museum recently and Curator Larry Billings brightened the room with a single pink rose; four people were in. The August meeting was preceded by a festive picnic and a nominating committee was chosen at the meeting.

The museum has a fine research library. There are books on nearly every subject you can imagine.

You learn so much from them. There are also many items in the society's notebooks.

They are enjoyable and informative to look through. A few things are filed. The contents of the museum are impressive indeed and everything is catalogued and carefully displayed. Do visit soon and see for yourself as they close shortly.

The Historical Society is an active, dedicated organization that serves the area well. You are always welcome to join and help out.

Curator Larry Billings encourages citizens of SAD44 to support Channel 2 for its service to the area.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

About 75 people attended the fishing derby at Joe Martin's pond on Ellis River Road last Saturday. Twenty-four children age 12 and under entered the contest and each caught up to three fish. Four-year-old Charlie Danis of Rumford with a 12 1/4-inch trout caught the first place fish. He won $100. Others won prizes ranging down to $30. The Rumford Grange sponsored the event and Grange Community Service Chairwoman Vicki Clark said she is hopeful that Joe Martin will do it again next year. "The kids had a ball," she said.

A reminder that the Rumford Grange is having a baked bean and casserole supper at the Rumford Center Grange Hall this Saturday from 5 to 6:30 p.m. A good feast, always! The home of Richard Bradeen and Carol Hadley in Rumford Point received about $5,000 in fire damage Thursday evening after a lightning strike during a thundershower that moved through the area. Firefighters and trucks responded from Rumford, Mexico, Newry and Andover along with Med-Care Ambulance. There was some confusion when responders were originally dispatched to Rumford Center while the structure was actually located three houses from the Rumford Point substation.

August usually turns quiet as folks head to the shopping centers for clothing, supplies and even cars for their children who will be heading back to school soon. And it is so that the summer season is getting well along as the blackberries are now rapidly ripening and cookouts include home-grown corn on the cob.

Mike Worcester and his fiancé, Jenna Richard, have been camping at South Arm Campground. On Friday, Matt and Jenny Terrill of Oxford visited them. Afterward the Terrills went to Hanover to spend the night at Clem and Donna Worcester's.

The Michael and Amy Ver-rill family have an interesting summer project by creating walking sticks from the Maine woods. With the bark removed some have creative artwork and a clear finish. Examples of the walking sticks can be seen at Gordie Howe's Store.

Kaylynn Worcester was with her dad, Brian, last week.

Along with Sara Clark they traveled to see the ocean at Milbridge. They also visited sites at Columbia, Ellsworth, Brewer, Wilton and the tar mountain in Aurora on Route 9, the Airline.

Fall so soon? It sure has felt like it the past few days. Sunday the thermometer registered 40 degrees at 6 a.m. at my home. It did make it up into the 60s during the day. At least we will not get the strong Caribbean hurricane playing around in the Gulf of Mexico. The weather for our morning walks has been cool and perfect.

On Sunday, Aug. 26, at the West Summer Universalist Church the Rev. Earl Simpson will conduct the last service of the summer season at 11 a.m. All are welcome.

I spent three days at Littlefield's Beach with my sisters-in-law, Elaine Blossom and Jeanne Whittemore and her grandson, Christopher Whittemore. The beach was sunny and warm. I took my red hot dogs and hamburg and cooked out with them. I did get some bacon for mornings so had a high cholesterol vacation. I did have fresh vegetables of corn, potatoes, string beans, cucumbers, and summer squash. A relaxing time being lazy and reading.

Sunday was the annual Lamb Reunion at Richmond with about 25 attending. The gathering three weeks ago was just the descendants of Celia and Conrad Lamb to celebrate the 80th birthdays of twins Hayward and Sayward Lamb. After adding them all up it totaled 68. What a gang for one family!

Muffin is still a close companion and follows me around and watches as I work. She does not like the vacuum at all and runs away and hides.

I can't believe the computer did it to me again. When I opened up my news file to send the news this week's column was not there. I don't know how many times

I have told myself to make a hard copy before I save it to a file but I don't listen to myself. So, here goes for a bit of what I wrote.

Jon Smith came from Easton, Saturday, to pick up his wife and my daughter, Marcia Smith, and their dog, Sadie, who had spent two weeks visiting me, her brother, Ralph Mills and other relatives and friends. She did get a chance to visit her aunt, Callie Colby, and cousins, Carl Colby and family. She had not seen Kyle and Katie since they were very small. She spent some time with long-time friend, Jackie Libby. They went swimming and took short trips and spent a lot of time just getting caught up on all the news and reminiscing.

Ralph took Marcia and me to Norway where we had lunch at Steve's and did some shopping. Lorene had just taken a header off their steps when she got tangled up in Kia's run rope and got banged up pretty good, especially her ankle, so she did not feel like riding and so stayed home. I had a lot of fun watching 100-pound Sadie, and my nine-pound Chloe, interact with each other. Sadie treated Chloe like a puppy, which actually she still is, and when she got enough of Chloe's pestering she took her paw and held Chloe down and washed her face. Both Sadie and Chloe are black so they certainly could pass for being mum and pup except for the size. Chloe is definitely all dachshund and Sadie is a Rotie and Lab mix with definite leanings toward the Rottie side. She is a gentle giant and everyone who likes dogs falls for Sadie. I think Sadie misses Chloe a bit because she has moped around a bit since she got home. She also had a bit of a problem going home. She had her head out the window and stepped on the button and closed the window on herself. They quickly freed her and then set the kiddie locks on the door and window but her throat may still be sore.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. The end of September may be a month away, but, the way the weather has been these past few days certainly doesn't feel like it!

David participated in his first karate tournament this past Saturday and took first place in his belt division. Way to go, Davey!

Don't forget that there is a Church Supper tonight, with the first seating being at 5:30. There usually is a second seating, as these wonderful suppers are very popular, and often have folks waiting in line for one-half to a full hour prior to seating (I know — I've driven by them on my way home from work before!).

There will be one more supper in September, which will benefit the youth of the church.

Al Tanguay tells me that 12 of their 16 grandchildren spent a week at Songo Pond this past July: Anna and Bob Nickerson and their three children, Lisa, Sean and Alison, all of Charlotte, N.C.; Elaine and Mark Carlevaro and their three children, Ali-Bea, Casie and Samy of Stony Point, N.Y.; and Susan Tanguay and her six children, Jordanna, Shaina, Jess, Joel, Max and Jonah of Thomaston, Conn. Tuesday, July 17, — a clear and cool day — turned out to be the best day for hiking.

Eleven grandchildren and four parents started up the Tuckerman Ravine Trail from the Pinkham Notch huts. They all enjoyed the view from the top — visibility was measured in the miles in every direction.

Thirteen continued on the Gulf Side Trail to the Jewel Trail. It ends at the Cog Railway Station in Marshfield, N.H. They started their hike at 9 a.m. and finished at 8:15 p.m., just before dark. Al couldn't believe that all of them woke up at 4 a.m. the next morning to go on a moose tour at 5 a.m., sponsored by the Gorham, N.H., Recreation Department. A total of 10 moose came out to greet them!

Jess, Joel, Max and Shaina all ran in the Mollycodd Day five-mile Race. Surprisingly, despite the grueling hike earlier that week, they all completed the run. Five entered in the three-mile walk competition: Samantha, Casie, Jonah, Elaine and Susan. Samy had the best time — she came in 5th out of a field of 30. Thank you, Al, for the information! I hope I got all of the information correct.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep!

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

At the risk of getting people angry, I will say that these are some of the best days we've had all summer; cool in the mornings (we've had frosts) and warm and sunny in the afternoons. They say we will get rain later in the week, perhaps even while you are reading this.

My cucumbers are finally growing, if a little late. We have summer squash and zucchini that have made an appearance. I have at least several buttercups and one that is still an unknown. We have pumpkin volunteers in the compost pile and even corn there. We are hoping our corn will be ready this week; at least some of it. It has been a good garden year for us. We are also realizing how to do it differently next year. That is good.

This week I have several to wish Happy Birthday to. Marie Elisabeth West, daughter of Rachel and Josh West is 5 years old Thursday. She begins kindergarten next week. Cassidy, daughter of David and Rosemary Hart, has a birthday in September. She will be 10; the beginning of the two digits. Happy Birthday to both girls!

Saturday, the 23rd, at the Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library in Lovell they will present "Widow Carver: A Maine Pioneer Woman of 1779," as told to Billie Gammon, at the Brick Church. It is free and open to all. It begins at 7:30 p.m. FMI: call the library at 925-3177. It will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 23-25.

On Thursday, the 23rd at 8 p.m., at Deertrees Theatre in Harrison "On Golden Pond" by Ernest Thompson will be presented. Tickets are $20/$10 students. FMI: call 583-6747 or e-mail Deertrees@usa.net.

Thursday, the 23rd, there is a public supper at the Albany Congregational Church on Hunt's Corner Road. Cost is $6 for adults and $3 for under 12. The menu includes beans, brown bread, rolls, casseroles, salads, pies and beverages.

The fundraiser last weekend for Jeremy Baker was able to raise several thousand dollars to assist with his rehab, which costs $2,500 a day or more. Donations are being accepted by Dancing Tree Lodge at North-east Bank, 46 Main Street in Harrison. FMI: 583-2954 or go to the website getJeremyRolling.com or e-mail GetJeremyRolling@yahoo.com. We all look forward to the day Jeremy returns to Harrison/Waterford.

That is all for this week. Enjoy the sunny weather and cover those veggies so they don't get toasted by the frost.

From

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Inaugural Maine Mountain Corvette Festival hosted by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce and the Bethel Inn Resort on Aug. 16-19 was a success! The event began with scenic drives on Thursday and Friday through the Evans Notch region of the White Mountain National Forest and Grafton Notch State Park returning to Bethel. Corvette sports cars came from as far away as Rhode Island and West Virginia.

Corvettes from each of the six generations known as C-1 through C-6 representing over 40 years of Corvette history were present at the Show N Shine and Lobster Bake event Saturday on the Bethel Common. Although the weather was overcast and windy with sprinkles, this did not deter from the Corvette owners' enthusiasm and support for the event. Taking top honors for "Best of Show" in each generation were: Dale Timm of Scarborough (C-1), Fred and D.C. Scherer of Greenwood (C-2), Dan and Joline Tripp of South Paris (C-3), Jim and Audrey Cardillo of Windsor, Conn. (C-4), Craig Yost of W. Va. (C-5) and Louie Baretto of Melrose, Mass. (C-6).

REBELS BATTLE PATRIOTS

Former New England Patriots players came to the area Saturday for a flag football game ("The Rebel Bowl") and a banquet to raise funds for Youth Football. The game took place at Telstar, with the locals winning 36-35. Near the end of each half, players from Youth Football teams went into the game to take on the Patriots, and the youngsters scored two touchdowns. Clockwise, from top left: Patriots kicker John Smith watches his point-after kick go through the goal posts; Michael Lee Patten catches a pass for a touchdown; the Pats' Jon Williams is caught by Kurt Wight; Andy Wheeler catches Roland James; Dylan and Tyler Cherkis celebrate a touchdown.

the cars that won awards. Local businesses reported brisk traffic during the event that ended Sunday with a Corvette parade through Bethel village. Officer Travis Fillmore of the Bethel Police Department provided escort.

It is expected that positive word of mouth will spread throughout the network of Corvette clubs in New England; as participants speak of the beautiful mountain village, friendly hospitality and camaraderie of Corvette enthusiasts who are not only passionate about their cars, but about the friendships they maintain through their automotive hobby. The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce expects that this event will only grow in size and scope each year.

From
Mundt-Allen Post
& Unit 81

Members of the Mundt-Allen American Legion Post 81, assisted by scouts of Cub Scout Pack 566, performed a flag disposal ceremony on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 19, at the post home. Post Americanism Officer Norman Clanton and scouts Avry Griffin, Mike Rodway and Mawerik Griffin presented worn-out flags for inspection before disposal as representative samples of the 700-odd used flags disposed of by burning. Cub Scout Pack Leader Matt Leach and legionnaires Sonny Bean, Bill Mahoney, Sylvia Clanton and Post Commander Rich Grover all assisted with the burn detail. Mona Grover and Mike Rodway's grandparents, Joe and Mariys Horodyski, were appreciative observers.

Every year legionnaires and cub scouts, girl scouts and boy scouts from the Bethel area put flags on veterans' graves in all the cemeteries in Bethel, Gilead and those extending from Upton and Newry to Hunt's Corner in Albany, some 700 in all. Norm Clanton coordinated and supervised the process in May this year. At the same time they retrieve the old flags from the graves and accept unserviceable flags from people in the area who want their flags disposed of in proper respectful fashion. It takes about two hours for the flames to consume this many flags!

We extend our gratitude to all those who participated in all these activities.

From
Bethel Lions Club

The Bethel Lions will hold their first meeting for the 2007-08 year this Thursday, the 23rd (today), at the United Methodist Church at 6 p.m.

We have had a busy summer with some of the Lions doing the 5K walk for "Girls on the Run," and participating in some of the fun activities for Mollycoddett Day. The Lions had free face paintings, free balloons, and sold water, plus a bake sale. And again there were some of the Bethel Lions walking the 5K and the 5-mile walk.

The Lions have many more projects that they have been working on over the summer. Feel free to drop in on one of our meetings, and check us out.

If you have unneeded eye glasses, there is a collection box at Brooks Bros., and Hannaford's both on Main Street and Ellie's Workout on Cross Street.

The Bethel Lions meet the second and fourth Thursday of the month at the United Methodist Church.

If anyone is in need of eye care assistance, please call 824-2107 for an application.

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Back by popular demand after being such a success when first offered in 2005, the Bethel Historical Society will sponsor a tour of approximately one dozen Bethel area barns between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 15. The day will also include a roast pork supper at 5 p.m. at Alastor River Grange 145 in East Bethel followed at that Grange Hall by a free lecture on Maine barns by Christi Mitchell of the Maine Historical Preservation Commission. The day will end with an old-time dance again at the East Bethel Grange Hall featuring the Richard Felt Band.

In 2005, the society hosted the Smithsonian Institution's exhibition "Barn Again: Celebrating an American Icon," which brought droves of people from many places to the society's Regional History Center. One of the events that accompanied the exhibition was a local barn tour. There have been numerous requests from the public to repeat this venture. A number of barns not included last time will be available to visit this time. Barns are rapidly disappearing from the Maine and national landscape. This tour is designed to celebrate barns and help Mainers and the American people to more fully recognize their historical significance and find ways to ensure their preservation for present and future generations.

Those wishing further information, should call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910.

With over 1,400 members, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over forty years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, or by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the society's website at www.bethelhistorical.org. The society's mailing address is P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

The University of Maine at Fort Kent is again offering its Law Enforcement Pre-Service course at University College. Equivalent to the Law Enforcement Pre-Service Program offered at the Maine Criminal Justice Academy, the course will be taught via interactive television each Tuesday and Thursday beginning Sept. 6, from 7 until 9:45 p.m. Students can participate in this course at the Western Maine University and Community College Center (WMUCC) campus at 232 Main Street in South Paris.

"It seemed like a natural fit," said Dr. Tony Enerva, Criminal Justice and Public Safety faculty at UMFK. "We have had great success with our previous criminal justice courses offered through distance education formats, and the academy was seeking ways to reach more departments around the state."

Course instructors are practicing law enforcement officers, lawyers, probation officers and other public safety professionals. The course requires that students attend two or three face-to-face sessions, located regionally. All students who successfully complete this course will receive a certificate from the MCJA.

For more information about this and other fall semester courses, please contact or visit the course website: <http://www.umfk.maine.edu/academics/programs/psa/prog/100hr/>.

Mason McMillin Bridge Club will begin play in September.

The Bridge Club, an informal group of card-playing enthusiasts of all ability levels, will once again begin its playing season in September. New participants are encouraged and welcomed. Get a playing partner and call Pat Roma at 824-0575 to join the fun (or just call — we will likely have singles looking for partners).

The scheduling format makes it easy to participate; you have one or two matches to play per month, you arrange time and place with your opponents, and you play your match. And if you cannot play that month, just schedule it for when it works for you and your opponent.

Play will continue through March or April depending on the number of players. Come join the fun.

The Inaugural Maine Mountain Corvette Festival hosted by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce and the Bethel Inn Resort Aug. 16-19 drew more than 100 spectators, according to Executive Director Robin Zinchuk. Corvettes from each of the six generations known as C-1 through C-6 representing over 40 years of Corvette history were present at the Show N Shine & Lobster Bake event Saturday on the Bethel Common. Reunions

SMITH FAMILY

The Smith Family held their reunion at the Fryeburg Fairgrounds on Aug. 5.

Seventy-five family members signed the guest book — coming from as far away as North Carolina to reunite with “cousins.”

Many genealogy charts, family photos, and scrapbooks were on display. A potluck lunch was served at noon with a wide variety of good food. Musical entertainment was ongoing throughout the day by the talented Smith family singing and playing. A program of “This is Your Life,” honoring Barbara Eastman, was presented by Ernest Smith — highlighting Barbara’s family, school days, marriage and her many years of volunteer work in Lovell and Chatham historical societies, Fryeburg Rescue and the Smith Reunion.

Prizes were given to attendees as the youngest (Dameor Doe, age 3); oldest (93-year-old Phyllis Smith); traveled farthest (Albert and Anita Kirtledge from North Carolina) and a door prize to Wellesley Eastman.

The next reunion will be the first Sunday of August 2008. Due to many address changes, please contact Barbara at (603) 694-3623 or Ernest at (207) 935-2388 if you have a new address so next year’s notice will reach you.

Many thanks to all who helped set up the hall and planning the activities. Special thanks to Fryeburg Fair Association for the use of the building free of charge.

RUTH ANN PHIMISTER AND ALLEN MIRCHIN WILL PLAY ETHEL AND NORMAN THAYER IN THE DEERTREES THEATRE FESTIVAL PRESENTATION OF ERNEST THOMPSON'S "ON GOLDEN POND."

Before there was the award-winning movie with Katherine Hepburn and Henry Fonda there was the award-winning play, a play that has been revived on Broadway twice, a play that has been produced in over thirty-eight countries in twenty-four different languages.

"On Golden Pond" is almost unsurpassed in its universal appeal and popularity. The touching, funny, and warmly perceptive story of the enduring love of a long marriage, Ernest Thompson's play is a theatrical treasure because you can believe in the characters and their relationships, and the things they feel for one another.

"On Golden Pond" is a heartwarming and hilarious celebration of the everyday struggles and ultimate triumphs of life, love and family. It will make you laugh more than any zany musical, and it will warm your heart more than any romantic comedy. Most of all, it will make you ponder your own mortality as well as the importance of each quickly escaping day. Now that's great theatre.

Directed by Terrence Walsh, starring Terri Eoff, Ruth Ann Phimister, Allan Mirchin, Park Borchard, and featuring local actors Bill Felts and Jon Bolduc with set designs by Peter "Upou" Cabot. "On Golden Pond" will be presented at Harrison's Deertrees Theatre on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, August 23, 24, and 22 at 8:00 p.m. Tickets are $20 ($10 for students) and are available from the theatre's Box Office at 207.583.6747, on-line at www.deertreestheatre.org, or from the Cool Moose in Bridgton, the Country Sleigh in Naples, Fare Share Co-op in Norway, and Books N Things in Bethel.

From

The Lewin Center

The Lewin Center sponsors educational events and research to further causes of social justice. Its home, at the Gehring House on Broad Street, is also the site of many local meetings, retreats, and educational events.

NTL has concluded its successful summer in Bethel. We are gearing up for the fall schedule of classes and events at the Gehring House.

On July 28 The Lewin Center Board held their regular meeting at the Gehring House, followed by lunch with the Bethel Committee and a very substantive joint meeting. The Board welcomes a new member, Jill Bujnowski from Bethel.

The list of restoration projects has been approved by the Boards of both The Lewin Center and NTL, and work will commence (and hopefully conclude this phase) this fall. You may see lots of activity at the house, as major reconstruction proceeds.

Two major Lewin Center events are being planned for the fall.

The weekend of Oct. 13-14 will see a Lewin Center Celebration, with planning meetings for donors and friends of the organization. The week of Nov. 26-30 we are pleased to host Evelin Lindner, a social scientist and founding manager of Human Dignity and Humiliation Studies based at the Columbia University Conflict Resolution Network.

In addition to workshops with invited guests from around the world, there will be substantive opportunities for Bethelites to benefit from Lindner's research on humiliation and its role in genocide, war and violent conflict.

For more information on The Lewin Center or the Gehring House, call Nancy Davis at 256-6956.

Visit us at www.lewincenter.org.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

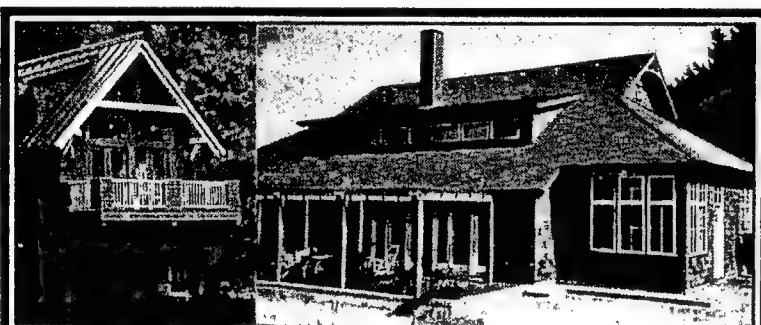

DON'T PUT OFF 'TIL TOMORROW

After the seller has accepted an offer, the buyer often brings in a home inspector to tell him if there is anything major wrong with the house. What happens if the home needs work?

In most transactions, the seller takes care of the repairs. It may be tempting to wait until the financing has been secured and other terms of the contract are met before investing in repairs, but procrastination can lead to difficulties in the transaction.

If you are responsible for making repairs to a home you are selling, make sure you have the work done in advance of the expected date of title transfer by licensed professionals who will guarantee their work. If the work is done at the last minute and is incomplete or unsatisfactory, it could lead to complications in finalizing the sale. You should provide the buyers with all the receipts and the names of the persons to contact in case there is a problem with the repairs.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771
